RTS Communications have been appointed by Feltech Electronics to provide radio facilities for the London G20 Summit at the ExCel Centre.

From The Legal Technology Journal (issue 10 Aug 08)

"Body of Evidence" The Inquest into the deaths of Diana Princess of Wales and Dodi al Fayed

"Without the use of Video Conferencing technology the hearing would have proved either impossible or much more costly. Evidence was heard from 268 witnesses over 89 sitting days.

Seventy five witnesses were based in France and others gave evidence from Germany, New Zealand, Australia, Nigeria, Kenya, Brazil and the USA"

The inquests secretariat employed the services of RTS Communications to equip Court 73 of the Royal Courts of Justice to facilitate this.

Video conferencing the cheaper, greener and quicker alternative to business travel

"According to the results of a FTSE 100 companies survey, released this week, only 5 % of respondents claimed to be reducing business travel through the use of video conferencing."

Does this mean that companies who are not familiar with the benefits of video conferencing are probably wasting a lot of energy, travelling hours, decision making time and money?

2008 culminated with the completion of the Coroner's Inquest into the Death of Jean Charles de Menezes.

RTS Communications were recognised for supplying IT and communication facilities, including HD Video Conferencing, translation booths, media and public overflow annexe and all special measures required for witness anonymity.

We would like to thank all our clients and contractors for their involvement in an exceptional year for us at RTS Communications.

A year which included the conclusion of the Inquest into the Deaths of Diana the Princess of Wales and Dodi Al Fayed, our involvement in the Office of Fair Trading vs the High St Banks inquiry and culminating in the inquest into the Death of Jean Charles de Menezes.

Of course we were involved in numerous high profile hearings and inquiries in Crown courts and constantly supporting the Royal Courts of Justice and that was just on the legal side.

Our government business saw us supporting the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, the Smith Institute and following Downing Street halfway round the planet.
